Students are partaking in a new and unique physical education curriculum developed by Special Olympics Southern California (SOSC) in collaboration with Newport Mesa Unified School District.

The Program is called Young Athletes Program (YAP), and it is intended to introduce students 2 to 7 years of age to sports skills and play activities that foster physical, cognitive and social development of young children with and without intellectual disabilities. The YAP curriculum has been introduced into early education, preschool and kindergarten classrooms throughout Southern California, and we are excited to start implementing the program in the Newport Mesa Unified School District. Teachers are provided with structured lesson plans and equipment to implement gross motor lessons into their daily routines.

Through participation in YAP, students will be prepared for the next level of sports opportunities such as Special Olympics Southern California (SOSC), which include sports training and competition in soccer and track & field.

Special Olympics is the leading voice in raising awareness about the abilities of people with intellectual disabilities.

Through sports, we showcase the skills and dignity of our athletes. We also bring together communities to see and take part in the transformative power of sports.

We believe in a world where there are millions of different abilities but not disabilities. And we’re spreading this message everywhere - at big Special Olympics events and small ones.
