How oral health, stroke and heart disease are connected

GUM DISEASE
If bacteria stays on your teeth for too long, tartar and plaque start to form. Once it builds up and reaches your gums, it can lead to gingivitis (early gum disease), which causes red, swollen or bleeding gums. Gingivitis can progress to periodontitis (severe gum disease), which can destroy your jawbone and lead to serious infection beyond your mouth.

PLAQUE
Bacteria enter your bloodstream through your gums and become part of fatty plaques in blood vessels. When fatty plaques block a blood vessel leading to the heart, it can lead to a heart attack. When fatty plaques reach the brain and cut off its blood supply, it causes a stroke. That’s why it’s important to treat plaque at the source.

INFLAMMATION
Inflammation starts a cycle: blood vessels swell, which reduces blood flow to the heart, which raises blood pressure, which affects the flow of blood and oxygen to the brain.

How the reimbursement process works

1. Enroll
To get reimbursed, you first have to enroll in the Cigna Dental Oral Health Integration Program® by either:
   - Going to myCigna.com, selecting Coverage > Dental and filling out the registration form online
   - Calling the number on the back of your Cigna ID card and asking for a mailed registration form

2. Submit your claim
If you visit an in-network dentist, they’ll send us a claim directly. If you see a dentist not in the Cigna network, you may need to submit the claim yourself. Then we’ll review it and refund you for eligible dental services in about 30 days.
